The 2010 Art History Graduate Student Association Symposium will focus on the theme of *Appropriation: People, Places, Things. *This symposium aims to critically engage with appropriation in art, visual culture and media. We invite graduate students and recent graduates from all disciplines to submit short proposals for presentations that examine appropriation. Proposals may address practices and histories of: advertising, antiques, the archive, questions of authorship, globalism, the body, craft, diaspora culture, fashion, institutional critique, landscape, photography, sound technology, virtual space, among others.
