President’s message

Jack Lightstone,
President and Vice-Chancellor,
Brock University

Brock marked its 50th anniversary in 2014-15 with events that put us on a national stage but also strengthened bonds with our Niagara community.

In June 2014, Brock hosted the country’s largest annual academic meeting as more than 8,500 participants came from across Canada and around the world for the Congress of the Humanities and Social Sciences. Over a week of glorious weather, delegates enjoyed Brock’s escarpment setting while attending hundreds of workshops and listening to some of the country’s best thinkers.

A few days later, Brock passed a different kind of milestone at Spring Convocation. We have now graduated more than 85,000 alumni in the University’s history.

September launched an academic year of unprecedented demand for a Brock education, when we experienced record enrolment of more than 18,800 full- and part-time students.

September was also a crescendo for our 50th birthday party. More than 1,000 alumni and friends came back for Homecoming Weekend, which included the very successful Red Dinner out on the “front lawn.” I was personally pleased when we were joined that weekend by former Brock presidents Alan Earp, Terry White and David Atkinson.

In January 2015, Brock was saddened by the death of David Howes, just weeks before the completion of a beautiful Sir Isaac Brock sculpture that he had commissioned for the University. When the artwork reached campus in March, borne on a large truck, it met an emotional reception from more than 1,000 students, faculty and staff.

In April, the year ended on a high note when the Ontario budget committed $10 million to expand and update the home of Brock’s Goodman School of Business, the provincial budget’s only capital funding for any Ontario university.

Financial Results

The following table illustrates the financial results of the University compared to budget and prior year actual. The information is presented on a funding basis which represents committed cash and in accordance with the audited financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting standards for not-for-profits (NFPS). A reconciliation of the two presentations can be found starting on page 20. Commentary on the financial results found on page 26.

Statement of operations metrics

The following metrics were developed to identify areas of strength as well as improvement. They detail key operating metrics on a per-student headcount basis of Brock versus the median and weighted-average of the 15 other Canadian comprehensive universities.

Dollars	Brock		Median ²	Weighted average ²
	April 2015	April 2014 ¹	April 2014	April 2014
Student fees (primarily tuition)	7,753	7,231	8,320	7,080
Grant revenue	5,909	5,924	9,620	10,870
Personnel costs	10,255	10,330	12,430	12,110
Interest on long-term debt	398	388	300	270
Investment income	93	88	550	560

(1) 2014 figures have been adjusted as a result of Statement of Operations reclassifications.
(2) Calculated using financial information from 15 other Comprehensive Universities

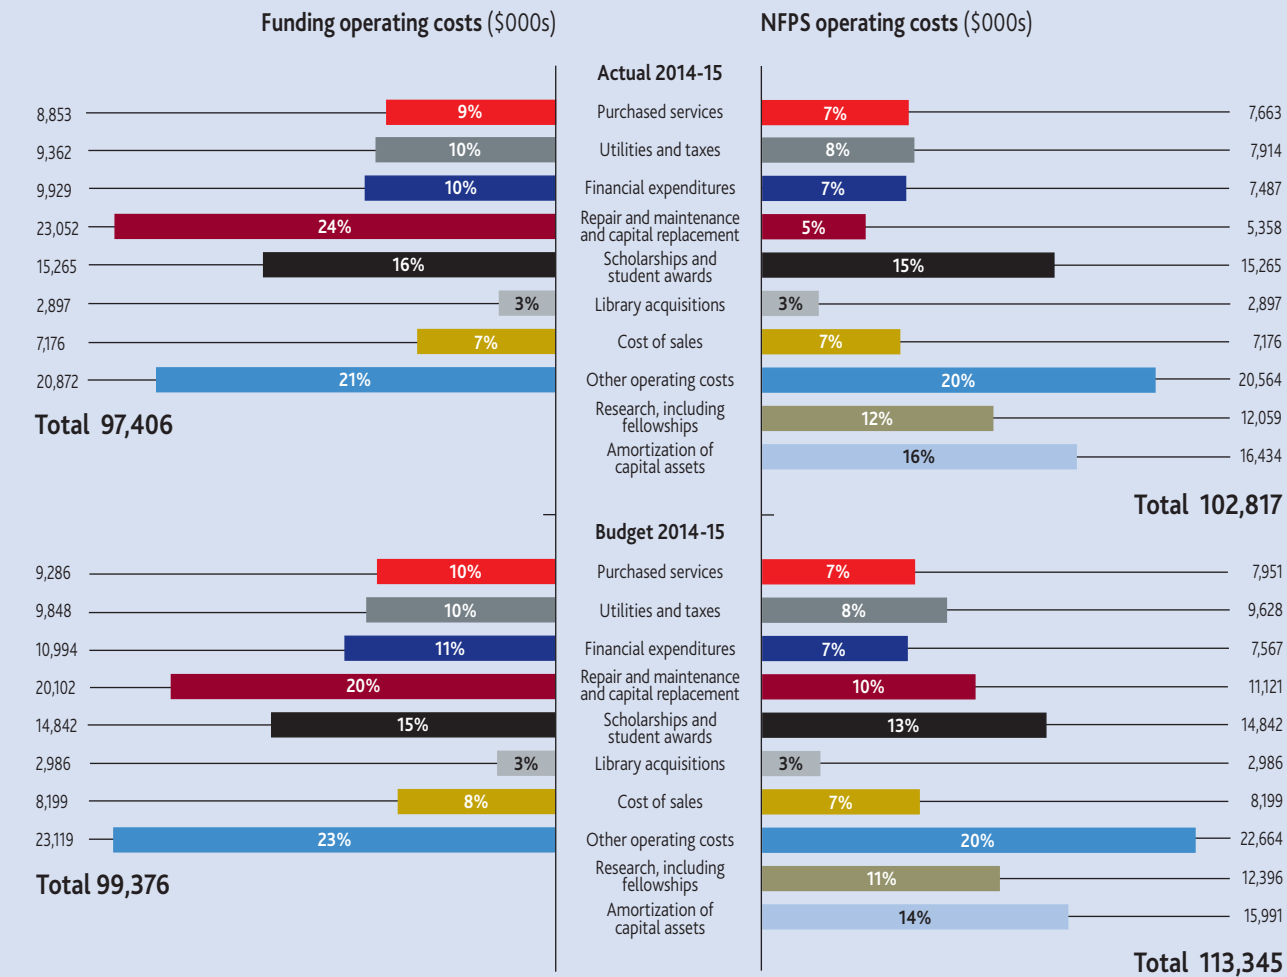

A few observations: Brock is slightly below median on student fees, which is mainly the result of lower ancillary fees; the grant revenue per-student metric dispels the commonly held assumption that all students are funded on an equal basis; although Brock has the lowest personnel costs per-student, it does not specifically speak to any one reason (i.e. productivity, employee levels, etc.); and the interest and investment income metrics are in line with the following financial health metrics.

Financial health metrics

	Brock		Median ²	Weighted average ²
	April 2015	April 2014 ¹	April 2014	April 2014
Primary reserve ratio	10.7%	3.4%	31.6%	35.3%
Debt burden ratio	3.2%	3.6%~	2.3%	3.4%
Interest burden %	2.7%	2.5%	1.9%	1.5%
Interest coverage	4.55	2.40	7.53	6.43
Viability ratio	19.8%	7.0%	111.5%	109.3%

(1) 2014 figures have been adjusted as a result of NFPS accounting adjustment for the presentation of changes in employee future benefit liabilities.

The reserve transfer adjustment for actual 2014-15 of $1,200,000 represents the $900,000 reserve transfer to pay the employee future benefit liability, and $300,000 transfer to the capital and infrastructure project reserve. The employee future benefits adjustment for budget 2014-15 actually nets two adjustments – $1,106,000 offset by $1,300,000. Message from the Chair

John Suk, Chair of the Board,
Brock University

Brock University celebrated its 50th year in 2014 and looks forward to the next 50 with high expectations and optimism. Brock continues to evolve in the areas of teaching, research and scholarship, and the Board of Trustees is committed to supporting the University through good governance, fiduciary oversight and planning. Following are some highlights from 2014-15.

Governance: We approved changes to the size and composition of the Board in order to be more responsive and accountable. To this end we have reduced the number of Board members from 32 to 26, changed representation from the student body to be the respective presidents of the Student associations, added the president of the Alumni Association, and established a new Human Resources Committee to put greater focus on HR Strategy and the importance of culture. These changes will be phased in over the next three years.

We also held a first-ever reunion of a large set of Board Alumni and made enhancements to the communications and participation of past Board members and to the Board Trustee Emeriti program.

Planning: A key priority of the Board has been long-term planning. This year the University started developing a strategic enrolment plan and an update to the long-term campus plans. The Board has also had a role in the President's Five Point Action Plan to optimize all efforts for maintaining our enrolment in the face of demographic pressure.

These plans will support recent initiatives to strengthen long-term financial, cash flow and capital planning. In addition, we continue to support Senate's Academic review process, which follows a program review of non-academic departments.

Investing: The approved 2015-16 budget supports many initiatives that invest in Brock, including 12 per cent of tuition being invested in our students through scholarships, bursaries and student awards, as well as an investment of more than $6 million to improve facility conditions through deferred maintenance.

2014-15 saw the completion of the Marilyn I. Walker School of Fine and Performing Arts on time and within budget – we thank management for their diligent oversight of this project – and the dedication of the Sir Isaac Brock statue, a gift from the late Dr. David Howes and an important symbol for generations to come that adds greatly to the campus. We also approved plans for the Goodman School of Business building to support the student learning environment and approved a debt reduction and employee future benefit funding strategy to support the long-term financial sustainability of the University.

Monitoring: Enhancements were made to financial and related capital reporting, included the expanded budget report, the introduction of which is a testament to the enhancements made in this regard. This year significant discussions on metrics also continued and we look forward to working with the Senate on the task recently undertaken to establish overall academic organizational metrics.

Financial outcomes: The 2014-15 budget was passed with a mitigation measure of $3.2 million required to balance the funding budget – we are pleased to see that the University met and surpassed that goal. A mitigation measure of $3.9 million has been set for fiscal 2015-16 and we continue to support the University in achieving this goal. To ensure the long-term fiscal health of the University, this year the Board approved a motion requiring balanced or better operational budgets for the foreseeable future.

Succession planning: The University is seeking a new President and Vice-Chancellor to succeed Dr. Lightstone at the end of his term on June 30, 2016. The search committee has begun its work and used an exhaustive consultation process to guide its deliberations.

In summary, 2014-15 was a very positive year, with positive outcomes on many of our initiatives. The Board looks forward to the upcoming year and the continued success of Brock University.

Messages from the leadership at Brock

Neil McCartney, Provost and Vice-President, Academic

By Neil McCartney

2014-15 was another excellent year for Brock’s academic endeavors. More than 3,400 undergraduates and 700 graduate students received degrees, and there were 173 certificates awarded in the Spring and Fall Convocations. New programs approved by the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities included the Master of Sustainability, and Master of Sustainability, Co-op, the BA in Game Design and the BSc in Game Programming. The latter two programs will be offered for the first time in September 2016, in partnership with Niagara College. The Dual Degree Business Administration program offered in the Goodman School of Business has been expanded to include Dublin City University and NEOMA Business School of France in addition to the European Business School in Germany. Several additional exciting programs are in various stages of internal assessment, or are being reviewed by the Quality Council.

This year marked the beginning of our implementation of Vision 2020 – The Brock Research Plan and we are well on the road to being recognized as one of Canada’s most innovative comprehensive universities. In 2014, Research InfoSource ranked Brock among the Top 10 Canadian Universities by Growth. Our new Cairns Family Health and Bioscience Research Complex is now in full operation and we have taken great strides in the development of transdisciplinary research. In line with our Vision 2020 Research Plan, we have almost doubled the number of Post-Doctoral Fellows at Brock. We substantially increased our levels of research funding in 2014 and we have seen a substantial increase in the impact of our research. Brock researchers are highly cited authors who continue to find new ways to advance knowledge and to benefit their communities.

By Brian Hutchings

In 2014-15 Brock set its trajectory fiscally, structurally and administratively. It completed plans to address future fiscal liabilities, infrastructure needs and campus planning, including a long-term cash flow forecast, capital plan and information technology implementation.

Brian Hutchings, Vice-President, Finance and Administration

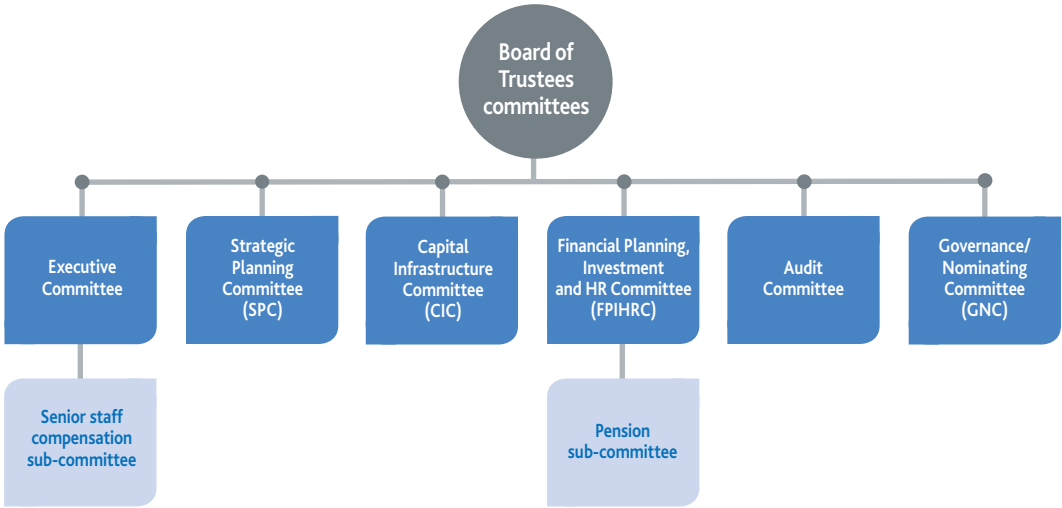

The Dominion Bond Rating Service continued to rate Brock “A stable,” with a positive outlook.

In May 2015, the Board of Trustees approved a balanced 2015-16 budget.

In March, financial commitments by the Brock University Students’ Union and an anonymous donor meant an artificial turf field with lighting would be installed beside the Walker Complex. In April, after the Ontario government pledged $10 million toward expanding and renovating the Goodman School of Business, the Brock Board of Trustees voted to proceed with a $24 million retrofit on the facility.

Construction of the Marilyn I. Walker School of Fine and Performing Arts was completed on time and on budget, and Brock took possession on May 15. A new 86-bed residence is nearing completion and will be open for renting to upper-year students for Fall term.

In summary, Brock is on the right path, financially and administratively. There are a few challenges to be resolved, but the University’s established plans will allow it to achieve its targets.

Governance at Brock University

The University was incorporated in 1964 through The Brock University Act (the Act), a Statute of the Province of Ontario. The University is governed by the Act and its bylaws (the Bylaws). The Senate is responsible for the education policy of the University. This bicameral system of governance, consisting of two governing bodies – the Board and the Senate – is shown below.

The Board consists of 32 members, including 21 community members elected by the Board, as well as three Brock students, three faculty members and three staff members elected by their respective constituencies. Integrated Strategic Plan and Strategic Mandate Agreement

Brock University's Integrated Strategic Plan, which has been endorsed by both the Board and the Senate, sets out the University's strategic priorities, representing the principles of allocation of the University, as follows (the full Integrated Strategic Plan can be viewed at brocku.ca/webfm_send/18651)

Strategic priorities

Brock University's Strategic Mandate Agreement (SMA), responds to the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities' (MTCU) request that every college and university in Ontario prepare a document that would articulate the mandate and vision of each institution. Brock's SMA was the culmination of a sustained process of integrated strategic planning and was informed by the Integrated Strategic Plan. The academic policy and goals of the University, as detailed in Brock's Vision/Mandate described in the SMA, are as follows (The 2014-17 Strategic Mandate Agreement can be viewed at brocku.ca/webfm_send/32300):

The SMA identifies the following:

Academic policy and goals

- 2 Demonstrates leadership and innovation in teaching and learning across disciplines.
- 3 Extends knowledge through excellence in research, scholarship, and creativity.

This is Brock's first annual report, and we thought it fitting to celebrate our people. We can talk about revenue and expenses, but it is really our people and their accomplishments that makes Brock University – BU.

Building Bridges: Research at Brock

Research and scholarship are seldom done in isolation; they are very much a communal effort. We build upon ideas and discoveries of those who came before us. We get fresh inspirations from the world around us. Our communities inform our investigations and make use of the resulting discoveries and innovations. The next generation picks up where we left off.

The Brock University community places a high priority on creating and sustaining these bridges that connect us all. Our transdisciplinary hubs gather together the expertise of several disciplines, resulting in an entirely new way of addressing an issue as it arises. Our scholars explore what it means to be human, from ancient times to the present, enabling us and our community to be passionate, engaged members of society. Our centres provide services to the community while seeking its input. Fundamental research forms the bedrock upon which applied research can draw. When researchers partner with industry, innovations come to market, bettering the lives of many.

As the University celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2014-15, it is exciting to review some of the accomplishments during this year and showcase what the budget supports. This timeline represents a reflection of excellence in people, their accomplishments and significant events of Brock – it exemplifies what makes Brock great. Many of the stories are taken from The Brock News as well as from a University-wide call. We thank everyone who participated and encourage anyone who has a story they think would be relevant for next year's timeline to submit it to annualreport@brocku.ca. The notations that precede each of the stories refer to Brock's strategic priorities and academic policy and goals. We acknowledge that many of the stories could be linked to multiple strategic priorities and academic policy and goals, but due to a limitation of space, identification was made to at least one salient notation per story. Refer to page 7 for relevant legends. In addition, many of the ongoing awards received by students, alumni, faculty and staff, as well as a new program started during the year, are highlighted in this report.

Reviewing the numbers

It's exciting to see the engagement of the University, the excellence in students, alumni, faculty and staff, and their accomplishments. These activities are supported by the resource allocations of the University. The following sections provide a closer look at the financial health and activity of the University.

Table 1 below illustrates the financial results of the University compared to budget and prior year actual. The information is presented on a funding basis which represents the commitment of cash and the audited financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting standards for not-for-profits (NFPS). A reconciliation of the two presentations can be found starting on page 20 with commentary on the financial results on a NFPS basis can found on page 26.

Financial results – funding basis

The funding basis in essence represents committed cash. A positive balance, or funding surplus, represents uncommitted cash, and a negative balance, or funding deficit, represents over committed cash. The actual funding surplus for 2014-15 of $7.514 million is before year-end discretionary appropriations for reinvestment in the University to cover off historical deficits, potential unplanned costs with previous capital projects, or one-time funding supporting academic priorities. When the 2014-15 funding budget was originally established, we estimated a funding deficit of $3.221 million. To the whole University community, congratulations and thank you for your commitment to eliminating the deficit. This said, we know going forward we still have our fiscal challenges. As highlighted in the 2015-16 Budget Report, enrolment remains a key concern, and our financial framework remains with expense growth of 3.01 per cent and revenue growth at 1.97 per cent.

Recognizing these challenges and the fact we just finished the year with a surplus which was slightly greater than two per cent of the total budget, the logical question is – are we at least moving forward with a head start on the structural financial framework deficit? Unfortunately the answer is likely not as much of a head start as we might like to think. While there is no one reason for the funding surplus in 2014-15, the following are some of the specific drivers of the surplus on a budget to actual basis:

1. One-time adjustment to recognize revenue of $1.7 million previously deferred several years ago in error.
2. One-time lawsuit settlement revenue of $0.6 million.
3. Lower pension payment requirements of $3.5 million following an updated actuarial pension valuation that was completed with an effective date of July 1, 2014, which put the plan as almost fully funded.
4. Unwinding of internal financing resulting in $1.4 million less expense.
5. Filing of an HST (Section 211) claim resulting in $0.4 million of revenue.
6. Lower than budgeted spending on part-time teaching of $0.9 million across all Teaching Faculties.
7. Lower than budgeted repair and maintenance spending, especially by the Department of Residence of $0.6 million.

It is important to note that we started the 2015-16 budget process with a projected deficit of $17.9 million. Many of the items identified above are either one-time or have already been adjusted and worked into the fiscal 2015-16 budget which, when approved, still required $3.9 million in mitigation. As we move through fiscal 2015-16, budget developers across the University will continue with their second-quarter reporting at the end of October and third-quarter at the end of January to provide updates on the University's financial health which will be informative to the 2016-17 budget preparation.

Responsibility centre results

Table 2 details the 2014-15 funding financial results versus the 2014-15 budget on a more detailed basis by responsibility centre. As part of this table, an additional difference column has been added to adjust for the lower-than-budgeted pension payment, as described in the previous section, as this difference affects most units.

Table 2: Funding results by responsibility centre

Funding basis reconciled to the financial statements

In fiscal 2014-15, Financial Services held three educational sessions with the support of the Senate Planning, Priorities, and Budget Advisory Committee. These sessions explained some of the differences between the audited NFPS basis of accounting and the funding basis of accounting. A full reconciliation of the differences will follow; however, as the sessions illustrated, there are two key observations:

- The funding basis accounts are a subset of the audited NFPS accounts;
- The largest difference between the funding basis and the NFPS basis is the treatment of capital transactions. On a funding basis, all principal and interest payments on debt and all fund transfers into separate capital funds to purchase capital and related costs are considered expenses. The function of transferring the funds into separate capital fund accounts is a mechanism to ensure cash is actually set aside to purchase capital and related costs. Therefore, when the cash is transferred to separate capital funds the funding basis treats the transfer as an expense. On a NFPS basis, capital purchases are not expensed as they result in an asset and are included on the Statement of Financial Position. This is similar to an individual who might purchase a home; the home becomes part of an individual's net worth statement.

It was communicated to Financial Services that those attending the educational sessions last year found them informative. It is anticipated that the Senate Planning, Priorities, and Budget Advisory Committee will support additional sessions in fiscal 2015-16. Table 3 reconciles the 2014-15 financial results from a funding basis to the NFPS basis. The adjustments are primarily for non-cash transactions and timing differences. Each of the adjustments and reclassifications are described in more detail in the following section. The letter reference in the Notes column of Table 3 corresponds to the letter reference in each of the adjustment descriptions. There may be multiple adjustments for each letter as well as multiple letters for each adjustment. For example, the grant revenue net adjustment of $1,857 [A] represents a combination of a capital grants adjustment of ($573) and a reserve transfer adjustment of $2,340.

Adjustments (000s):

- Capital grants and donations – ($573) [A] and ($96) [B] – Grants and donations received by the University to be used for future capital purchases are included as part of deferred capital contributions in the financial statements, and later amortized over the useful life of the capital item it funded. These grants and donations, however, are reported as revenue on a funding basis.
- Internally restricted investment income – $679 [B] – Represents investment income on the sinking fund and other internally restricted investments. This investment income is included as net zero on a funding basis as the funds are restricted and not for operating purposes; however, the investment income is reflected in the financial statements as it first needs to be recognized as surplus (deficit) before being transferred to reserves.
- Employee future benefits – ($376) [C] – This amount is actuarially determined and represents the actuarial adjustment to employee future benefits related to current service. An adjustment is required because while the liability exists, the University has not budgeted nor set aside sufficient funds for the future cash flow impact of this liability.

- Principal payments – $1,967 [D] – Represents principal payments on long-term debt. These payments are recorded as an operating cost on a funding basis as they represent a cash flow impact; however, for financial statement purposes they are recorded as a reduction of the debt liability.
- Capital purchases – $2,270 [D] – In addition to the capital budget for Facilities Management and Information Technology Services, this represents spending in unit budgets for minor capital. For financial statement purposes, capital purchases are recorded as an asset in the Statement of Financial Position instead of an expense in the Statement of Operations.
- Amortization, net – $6,740 [B] and ($16,434) [D] – Amortization is a non-cash expense and is therefore not included in the funding budget. For financial statement purposes, the capital asset amortization of $16,434 is recorded to reflect the usage of capital assets and amortization of deferred capital contributions of $6,740 is being amortized over the useful life of the assets they have funded.
- Reserve transfers – $2,430 [A], ($180) [B], $1,200 [C] and $11,734 [D] – (Total = $15,184) Reserved funds represent non-externally committed funds that are unspent at year end which have been transferred to holding accounts for specific purposes to be used in future years. Included in these figures are unspent portions of the Facilities Management and Information Technology Services capital and related projects budgets, as well as some new transfers which include $900 for employee future benefits, $2,800 for the new financial system and $475 for debt retirement. Since the funding basis represents committed cash flow and these funds are set aside for specific purposes, the funding basis reflects these transfers as expenses. For financial statement purposes, no expense is required because there are no external commitments.
- Research, including fellowships – $12,059 [B] and ($12,059) [D] – Research grants for restricted purposes and the offsetting research expenses, including fellowships, have not been included on a funding basis due to the limited line of sight regarding spending patterns on the funds to which they are related; however, they are included as part of the financial statements.

Reclassification (000s)

- Internal chargebacks – 2014-15 actual revenue on a funding basis includes $7,111 of internal charges between departments within the University. The reclassification removes this revenue and the offsetting charges, as they are not included as part of the financial statements.

Reconciliation of net assets

The reconciliation of the audited NFPS surplus and the funding surplus on pages 24 and 25 is perhaps less of a reconciliation and more of a different way of looking at the accounts. It is included because it acknowledges the University is really split into a number of different funds which is important for users of these financial reports to understand. The funds and a related description are as follows:

- Unrestricted – On a funding basis, activity runs through the unrestricted fund. In fact, the balance of this fund represents the sum of historical surpluses and deficits of the funding budget which also represents the uncommitted cash balance of the University. This means if the balance is positive the University has uncommitted cash, and if it is negative it has over-extended by spending or committing more cash to projects than it actually has. It is interesting to note that after 50 years of operations the net uncommitted cash of the University is $11,000.
- Internally restricted – This fund represents funds set aside and committed for future use and is really the sum of a number of smaller funds as follows:

- Capital and infrastructure projects and reserves – This fund was established to transfer funds from the unrestricted fund and other funds into the capital and related expense program. As items are capitalized, they are transferred to the invested in capital asset fund.
- Operating project accounts – The goal of this fund is to identify small but important ongoing initiatives such as conferences, ongoing programs (i.e. The Positive Active Living for Students Program), etc. and ensure these funds can be made available in future years if unspent. The fund essentially tries to recognize that, for certain types of activities, we need to take into consideration timing issues with respect to when cash is actually collected and expenses actually incurred, as many activities at the University do not align perfectly to the fiscal year.
- Research funds – For the most part, unspent research funds are captured under deferred revenue on the Statement of Financial Position in the NFPS statements. This occurs when there is an external restriction to spend the funds on specific activities or items. This fund was established to recognize that some research funding has no external restrictions. Examples include the funding of the five transdisciplinary units and The Match of Minds program.
- Start-up funds – This fund includes all unspent start-up funds awarded to faculty.
- Professional expense reimbursement (PER) accounts – This fund includes all unspent PER amounts provided to faculty and senior administration.
- Sinking fund – This fund recognizes the funds set aside to repay the $93 million bond debenture due Dec. 14, 2045.
- Employee future benefit reserve – This fund was established to set aside funds to pay our employee future benefit liability. The liability on our Statement of Financial Position is $19.646 million as of April 30, 2015.
- Debt repayment reserve – This fund was established to work towards repaying the outstanding debt of the University. Our financial metrics as illustrated on page 27 are weaker than other comprehensive Universities. The goal of this reserve is to set funds aside to repay outstanding debt when it comes up for renewal. The next maturity date is June 3, 2019.
- Contingency reserve – This fund was established as a capital and litigation reserve.
- Strategic initiative fund – This fund was established to support academic priorities with one-time funding. This funding will be made available in September 2015 should it be anticipated that enrolment projections will be met.
- Encumbrance reserve – This fund was established to accommodate situations where the budgeted funding is available for purchases but the service had not yet

- been provided or the goods had not yet been received by year end. This fund allows the budgeted funding to be reserved and utilized in the following year.
- Student support grants, bursaries and fellowships – This fund was utilized in fiscal 2014-15. Going forward, student support grants, bursaries and fellowships have been incorporated into the funding budget. This reserve will be closed.
- Invested in capital assets – This fund represents the balance of capital assets net of long-term debt, deferred capital contributions, debt payments, and accounts payable. The balance in this fund can reasonably be compared to an individual's house value, less the mortgage outstanding. In year, the activity in the fund relates to funding, for example debt or deferred capital contributions and capital assets purchases. The Sir Isaac Brock statue and MIWSFPA building were directly recorded to this fund during the year. Other capital assets were also purchased, but they were transacted through either the funding budget recorded in the unrestricted fund discussed above or the capital and infrastructure projects and reserve which is included in the internally restricted fund, also discussed above.

- Endowments – The endowment fund represents the activity and balance of our endowments.
- Employee future benefits – This fund is the sum of the pension asset and post-retirement obligation. Unlike the other reserve funds, this fund remains unfunded. The Board of Trustees has approved a plan to put aside $0.9 million annually to begin setting aside funds to ensure these obligations will be funded in the future.

Table 4, on the following pages, details the activity of the net assets during the year, including transfers between funds.

Funding surplus

Note: As mentioned previously, the $7.514 million is before year-end discretionary appropriations for reinvestment in the University to cover off historical deficits, potential unplanned costs with previous capital projects, and one-time funding supporting academic priorities. These three internally restricted transfers fund the $4.5 million contingency reserve, the $1.0 million strategic initiative fund, and the $0.675 million encumbrance reserve, all of which were discussed previously on pages 22 and 23. After these transfers, the net funding surplus is $1.339 million which after 50 years of operations brings the net uncommitted cash of the University to $11,000.

Financial review of the audited financial statements

Revenue

Revenues increased to $313 million or 4.5 per cent over last year, driven primarily by student fees as a result of a student headcount increase of 136 and rate increases. A notable observation is that government grants decreased $1.175 million resulting from the Province’s efficiency target reductions and the $750 fee per international student.

Expense

Expenses decreased to $296 million or 0.8 per cent over last year, driven by a reduction in expendable equipment, and repairs and maintenance. The push to completion of the MIWSFPA and the transition to a new capital and related project program introduced in fiscal 2014-15 found this expense line unspent in year. The unspent funds have been set aside in an internally restricted reserve for capital infrastructure and related projects. At year end the balance is $10.339 million. The other notable contributing factor allowing expenses to decrease was that salaries and benefits were almost flat. Although 2014-15 saw salary rates rising, the actuarial valuation performed as of July 1, 2014 found the pension fund to be almost fully funded, which resulted in an in-year reduction in additional pension payments of $3.5 million; as well as the in-year reduction of staffing as previously announced during the 2014-15 budget process.

Assets

Assets increased by $54.5 million or 10.4 per cent over last year, supported by the following:

- Results of revenue over expense.
- Purchase of capital assets totaling $20.91 million, offset by $16.43 million in amortization of capital assets.
- The market returns of the past year and a higher discount rate produced a pension asset of $8.13 million compared to a liability of $23.84 million in the prior year.
- An increase in unspent debt financing of $12.97 million due to greater than expected capital donations and delayed substantial completion of the MIWSFPA building which was originally expected before the fiscal year end April 30, 2015.
- An increase in endowments of $7.17 million, primarily the result of market gains.

Liabilities

Liabilities decreased by $0.2 million over last year, primarily because of the change in the pension liability to an asset, offset by an increase in deferred capital contributions of $3.33 million, an increase in current liabilities of $3.30 million, and an increase in debt of $16.03 million resulting mainly from the new MIWSFPA debt of $18 million, less in-year and planned debt repayments.

Net Assets

Net assets increased in line with the change in assets.

- The funds included in the endowment, invested in capital assets, and internally restricted and unrestricted reserves, are all supported by cash or restricted investments.
- A plan has been put in place to fund the unfunded balance identified in the employee future benefits reserve. The plan includes paying all in-year costs, related to employee future benefit costs plus setting aside $0.9 million annually in a reserve to pay the unfunded liability.

Taking a closer look at some of the numbers

The previous section of this report illustrates the change year over year of the audited financial statements. The following section now digs a little deeper into our financial health.

Financial reserve and debt metrics

This year, financial reserve and debt metrics were introduced that compared our debt to other universities in the comprehensive category as detailed in Table 5.

The metrics can be explained as follows:

1. The primary reserve ratio refers to the amount of cash available to cover operations. At April 2015 Brock has approximately 39 days of expendable reserves.
2. The next two ratios describe how Brock utilizes a greater proportion of its annual operating expense to fund debt obligations.

(1) 2014 figures have been adjusted as a result of NFPS accounting adjustment for the presentation of changes in employee future benefit liabilities.

(2) Calculated using financial information from 15 other Comprehensive Universities.

~ 2014 rate was impacted by the one-time repayment of the commercial plaza mortgage.

3. The interest coverage ratio measures the ability to fund interest charges from cash generated through operations. This measure has been improving; however, we trail behind our peers.
4. The viability ratio is essentially how much of the institution’s debt could be paid off with expendable resources. The average institution in our category could pay off all its debt with expendable resources, whereas Brock can only pay off 20 per cent and therefore is vulnerable to unplanned events.

Our metrics have improved year over year, which is a positive sign and the result of a lot of hard work by everyone in the University community. The comparative April 2015 figures of the other universities in the comprehensive category were not available at the time of writing this annual report.

A notable metric that continues to run high is the debt burden ratio. As a means to lower the debt burden, the Board of Trustees has approved a debt reduction strategy that includes setting aside $475,000 annually to put towards the loan that supported the building of the MIWSFPA when it comes up for renewal in the fiscal year ending in 2020. This strategy, coupled with other donor-related initiatives, forecasts our current and future debt position as detailed in Table 6.

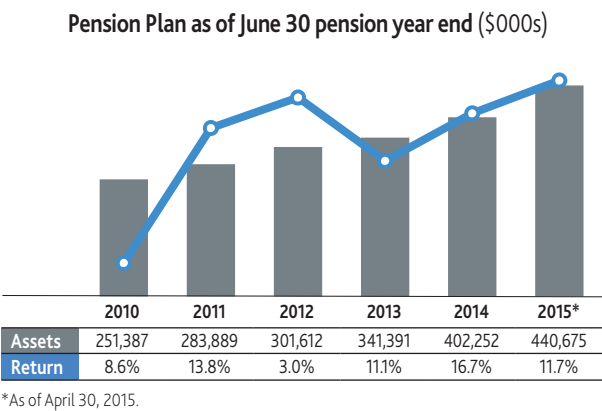

Pension plan

Our pension plan is slightly complicated as it is a hybrid. This means it is a defined contribution plan with the guarantee of a minimum pension, which is commonly referred to as a defined benefit. The actuarial valuation on the plan last updated as of July 1, 2014 indicated the fund was 99.1 per cent funded on a going-concern basis and 105 per cent on a solvency basis. Key to the valuation is that it assumed a rate of return and discount factor of six per cent. Since the last actuarial valuation the investment returns have continued to exceed the actuarial assumption. The fiscal investment returns of the last six years are detailed in Chart 1.

The financial statements at April 30, 2015 reflect a pension fund net asset of $8.1 million, which suggests the fund is now fully funded. This change is a result of the new actuarial valuation which increased the discount rate by 0.75 per cent and the recent market returns, since the previous actuarial valuation on July 1, 2011. It is important to note that the accounting standards and actuarial method used to calculate this asset only reflects in-year market returns. It does not adjust the discount rate on the defined benefit costs. Recognizing the discount rate on the defined benefit costs is a function of the expected future market return, and current market returns have exceeded expectations, it is anticipated that future market returns may be tempered. This could reduce the discount rate, increase the defined benefit costs and reduce the net asset value in the future. Additional information on the pension plan can be found at brocku.ca/hr-ehs/pension-new

Endowment Summary

The endowments of the University continue to grow. Table 7 summarizes the activity of the last four years.

Salient to the activity of fiscal 2014-15 was that $5.0 million of the $6.9 million in spending from the endowment represented a one-time transfer of the Marilyn I. Walker SFPA Fund to pay for a portion of the building. As noted in the forecasted debt in Table 6, these funds have been set aside to apply towards the loan that supported the building of the MIWSFPA when it comes up for renewal in the fiscal year ending in 2020. Currently the funds are invested at 2.75 per cent when the interest being paid on the loan is 2.45 per cent.

Table 8 details the top 10 endowments as of April 30, 2015.

Capital investments

In total, the University purchased $20.9 million in capital during 2014-15. This amount can be broken into three components. The first is $14.7 million that was invested in the MIWSFPA building and the Sir Isaac Brock Statue projects which were funded by external donations and debt. The second is $2.3 million that was invested in such items as library collections and other smaller capital items such as computers and printers which were funded from Units funding budgets. The third is $3.9 million that was invested in facilities and information technology projects.

Important to note is that in fiscal 2014-15, we introduced a new capital program for Facilities Management and Information Technology Services. It specifically included $9 million in capital and related project funding (including $6 million for deferred maintenance). Notably, in-year there was an additional $4.2 million in approved funding added to the program. Key to the capital program’s new design is that funding transferred to the program is held in restricted investment and reserved at year end for spending in the following year. This recognizes that capital and related projects can often span one or more years.

Table 9 illustrates the activity of the capital and infrastructure projects and reserves fund which makes up a component of the internally restricted net asset balance in the audited NFPS financial statement.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To Trustees of Brock University

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Brock University (the "University"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at April 30, 2015, the statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes, comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Brock University as at April 30, 2015, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Notes to Financial Statements

Year ended April 30, 2015

Incorporated in 1964, Brock University has continually developed rigorous undergraduate, graduate and doctoral programs, including experiential learning opportunities and one of Canada’s largest co-op programs. Our cross-disciplinary and interdisciplinary programs offer multi-faceted degrees that help students build careers and get jobs. Our culture allows students to develop intellectually and build the kind of social maturity and personal character that today’s economy and employers demand.

These financial statements reflect the assets, liabilities, net assets, revenue, expenses and other transactions of all of the operations controlled by the University. Accordingly, these financial statements include the academic, administrative and other operating expenditures funded by fees, grants and other general revenue; restricted purpose funds, including endowment, research and trust; and the ancillary operations, such as residence and parking.

The University is a charitable organization and, as such, is exempt from income taxes under the Income Tax Act (Canada).

1. Significant accounting policies:

On May 1, 2011, the University adopted Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-For-Profit Standards in Part III of the CPA Canada Handbook.

(a) Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term commitments and are readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant amount of risk of changes in value. Cash equivalents include money market funds and investments with maturities of three months or less from the date of acquisition. Cash and cash equivalents are valued at fair value.

(b) Inventories:

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost (weighted average cost) and net realizable value.

(c) Investments:

Investments are recorded at fair value.

(d) Capital assets:

Purchased capital assets are recorded at cost less accumulated amortization. Contributions of capital assets are capitalized at fair market value at the date of contribution. Capital assets are amortized on a straight-line basis using the following annual rates:

Asset	Rate
Buildings	2.5% to 10%
Furnishings and equipment	10% to 33 1/3%
Library books	20%

Construction costs are capitalized as work progresses, and amortization commences as work is substantially completed.

1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

Contributed works of art are recorded as revenue and expense, at fair market value, at the date of contribution. If the fair market value is not determinable, the contribution is recorded at a nominal amount. Artwork purchases are expensed as acquired.

(f) Endowments:

Contributions restricted for endowments consist of restricted donations received by the University and donations internally designated by the Board of Trustees, in the exercise of its discretion. The endowment principal is required to be maintained intact. The investment income generated from endowments must be used in accordance with the various purposes established by donors or the Board of Trustees. The University ensures, as part of its fiduciary responsibilities, that all funds received with a restricted purpose are expended for the purpose for which they were provided.

Investment income on endowments that is available for spending at the discretion of the University or is available for spending as the conditions established by the donor have been met has been recorded in the statement of operations. University policy has been established with the objective of protecting the real value of the endowments by having an overall investment objective for endowments to earn, over time, a rate of return at least equal to the total of inflation plus spending and the costs of administering the funds. The spending rate is reviewed annually. Investment income in excess of administration costs and spending allocations will be added to capital. In the case of endowments where the original donation adjusted for inflation is higher than the market value of the fund, spending may be temporarily suspended in order to preserve donor capital.

(g) Internally imposed restrictions on net assets:

The University internally restricts the use of portions of its unrestricted net assets for specific future use. When incurred, expenses are charged to operations and the balance of internally restricted net assets is reduced accordingly.

(h) Revenue recognition:

The University follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable, if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured. Pledged donations are recognized on a cash basis since pledges are not legally enforceable claims. Contributions externally restricted for purposes other than endowment are deferred and recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are recognized. Endowment contributions are recognized as direct increases in net assets in the year in which they are received. Student fees are recognized as revenue when courses and seminars are held. Sales and services and ancillary revenue is recognized at the point of sale or when the service has been provided.

(i) Employee future benefits:

The University provides pension benefits to employees primarily through a hybrid pension plan. Under this arrangement, the University and employees are required to make contributions based on a specific percentage of the employee's earnings. The amount of pension benefits provided to employees is based on the accumulation of contributions and investment earnings thereon, when the employee retires, subject to a guaranteed minimum benefit amount. Certain faculty are also members of the Teacher's Superannuation Fund, a multi-employer defined benefit plan.

The University provides other non-pension benefits to most of its employees, including retiree medical and dental benefits until the age of 65, accumulating sick leave benefits, pre-retirement leave benefits and for specific employees a health-care spending account.

The University accrues its benefit obligations for these employee future benefits as the employees render the services necessary to earn them. The actuarial determination of the accrued benefit obligations for these employee future benefits uses the projected benefit method prorated on service. For purposes of measuring the benefit obligations, the funding valuation is used for the pension and the accounting valuation is used for the non-pension benefits.

The University recognizes the amount of benefit obligations net of the fair value of plan assets in the statement of financial position. Current service and finance costs are expensed during the year, while remeasurement and other items, representing the total of the difference between actual and expected return on plan assets, actuarial gains and losses, and past service costs, are recognized as a direct increase or decrease in net assets. In years between valuations, a roll-forward technique is used to estimate the accrued benefit obligations.

The most recent actuarial valuation of the pension plan for funding purposes was as of July 1, 2014 and the next required valuation will be as of July 1, 2017.

The most recent actuarial valuation of the non-pension benefits for accounting purposes was as of April 30, 2014 and the next scheduled valuation will be as of April 30, 2017.

(j) Derivative financial instrument and hedge accounting:

The University is party to interest rate swap agreements used to manage the exposure to market risks from changing interest rates. The University's policy is not to utilize derivative financial instruments for trading or speculative purposes.

Payments and receipts under the interest rate swaps are recognized as adjustments to interest expense on long-term debt.

1. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(k) Pledges:

Pledges are recorded as revenue on a cash basis and accordingly are not set up as assets in the financial statements. The total amount of pledges outstanding is approximately $9,925,553 (2014 - $14,279,447) and is expected to be received as follows:

(000's)	2015	2014
2015	$ -	$ 3,694
2016	2,074	3,487
2017	1,533	1,393
2018	1,432	1,295
2019	1,323	1,238
2020	173	-
Thereafter	3,391	3,172
	$ 9,926	$ 14,279

(l) Financial instruments:

Financial instruments are recorded at fair value on initial recognition. Freestanding derivative instruments that are not in a qualifying hedging relationship and equity instruments that are quoted in an active market are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial instruments are subsequently recorded at cost or amortized cost, unless management has elected to carry the instruments at fair value. The University has not elected to carry any such financial instruments at fair value.

Transaction costs incurred on the acquisition of financial instruments measured subsequently at fair value are expensed as incurred. All other financial instruments are adjusted by transaction costs incurred on acquisition and financing costs, which are amortized using the effective interest rate method.

Financial assets are assessed for impairment on an annual basis at the end of the fiscal year if there are indicators of impairment. If there is an indicator of impairment, the University determines if there is a significant adverse change in the expected amount or timing of future cash flows from the financial asset. If there is a significant adverse change in the expected cash flows, the carrying value of the financial asset is reduced to the highest of the present value of the expected cash flows, the amount that could be realized from selling the financial asset or the amount the University expects to realize by exercising its right to any collateral. If events and circumstances reverse in a future period, an impairment loss will be reversed to the extent of the improvement, not exceeding the initial carrying value.

(m) Contributed services and materials:

Volunteers contribute an indeterminable number of hours per year. Because of the difficulty of determining their fair value, contributed services and materials are not recognized in these financial statements.

(n) Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses for the period reported. Significant items subject to such estimates and assumptions include the carrying amount of capital assets, valuation allowances for receivables, valuation of derivative financial instruments, accrued liabilities and obligations related to employee future benefits. Actual results could differ from those estimates. These estimates are reviewed periodically, and, as adjustments become necessary, they are reported in income in the year in which they become known.

The defined benefit component of the plan is funded by University contributions and provides for a guaranteed minimum benefit. The latest actuarial funding valuation was performed as at July 1, 2014. The next required actuarial funding valuation will be July 1, 2017.

14. Canadian Universities Reciprocal Insurance Exchange:

The University is a member of the Canadian Universities Reciprocal Insurance Exchange (CURIE). CURIE is a pooling of the property damage and public liability insurance risks of its members. All members pay annual deposit premiums that are actuarially determined and are subject to further assessment in the event members' premiums are insufficient to cover losses and expenses. No assessment has been made for the year ended April 30, 2015.

15. Contingencies:

The nature of the University's activities are such that there may be litigation pending or in the prospect at any time. With respect to claims at April 30, 2015, the Administration believes that the University has valid defenses and appropriate insurance coverage in place. In the event any claims are successful, Administration believes that such claims are not expected to have a material effect on the University's financial position. No provision has been accrued in these financial statements in respect of the above litigation.

16. Accounts payable and accrued liabilities:

Included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities are government remittances payable of $4,707,000 (2014 – $4,737,000), which includes amounts payable for payroll-related taxes.

17. Financial risks:

- (a) Credit risk:

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty may default on its contractual obligations resulting in a financial loss. The University deals with creditworthy counterparties to mitigate the risk of financial loss from defaults. Grants are received shortly after the fiscal year end.

- (b) Interest rate risk:

The University is exposed to interest rate risk on its fixed and floating interest rate financial instruments. Fixed-interest instruments subject the University to a fair value risk while the floating-rate instruments subject it to a cash flow risk.

The University mitigates interest rate risk on its term debt through derivative financial instruments (interest rate swaps) that exchange the variable rate inherent in the term debt for a fixed rate (see note 6). Therefore, fluctuations in market interest rates would not impact future cash flows and operations relating to the term debt.

- (c) Currency risk:

The University is exposed to foreign currency risk with respect to its investments denominated in foreign currencies, including underlying investments in pooled funds denominated in foreign currencies because the fair value and future cash flows will fluctuate due to the changes in the relative value of the foreign currencies against the Canadian dollar. The University manages currency risk through monitoring activities and adherence to the investment policy.

- (d) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk of being unable to meet cash requirements or to fund obligations as they become due. Trade accounts payable and accrued liabilities are generally paid shortly after year end. For long-term debt, the University has established investments to provide for cash flow requirements (note 6).

18. Adoption of reporting employee future benefits by not-for-profit organizations:

Effective May 1, 2014, the University adopted Section 3463, "Reporting Employee Future Benefits by Not-for-Profit Organizations", of the CPA Handbook – Accounting, on a retrospective basis. Section 3463.01 provides that a not-for-profit organization applies Section 3462 except as otherwise provided for in Section 3463.

In accordance with Section 3463, remeasurements and other items are recognized directly in net assets on the statement of financial position, rather than in the statement of operations, and presented as a separately identified item in the statement of changes in net assets.

The University continues to measure the pension obligation using the funding method and the non-pension benefits using the accounting method.

There was no net change in net assets but the excess of revenue over expenses on the statement of operations did decrease for the year ended April 30, 2014 from $6,550,000 to $982,000 with a difference of $5,568,000 recorded in salaries and benefits on the statement of operations.

19. Comparative figures:

The comparative financial statements have been reclassified to conform to the presentation of the 2015 financial statements.
