CPA PATHWAY VS. MAcc

GOODMAN SCHOOL OF BUSINESS CPA PATHWAY

Both the CPA PEP, and the MAcc, are graduate-level programs that prepare CPA candidates for a profession in accounting. These programs focus on providing competencies in your professional knowledge, values, ethics and attitudes. The CPA PEP pathway will take you two years part-time to complete, whereas the MAcc program will earn you a graduate degree, while completing all of the requirements to write the CFE in only seven months full-time.

Goodman BAcc graduates will receive recognition for completion of Core 1 and 2 of the PEP program upon entry to the MAcc. Students who choose to complete the CPA PEP program after completing an undergraduate degree (like the BAcc), will not receive recognition for completion of Core 1 and 2, and will have to repeat them as part of the PEP requirements.

The CPA PEP program only covers two elective areas which limits a student's area of expertise. Alternatively, the MAcc program focuses on all four areas, ensuring you are a well-rounded accountant who is able to take on any challenge presented in the workplace.

These four electives include:

1. Assurance (mandatory for CPA candidates pursuing careers in public accounting)
2. Performance management
3. Tax (mandatory for CPA candidates pursuing careers in public accounting)
4. Finance

Both programs provide two Capstones that allow you to demonstrate what you have learned over the duration of the program. One ensures you demonstrate the leadership competencies and professional skills. The other prepares you to write the CFE.

QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR ELIGIBILITY FOR THE MAcc?

It can be an expensive risk to complete the application process for the MAcc, only to discover that you don't qualify for admission. At Goodman, we don't want you to waste your time or money. Send us your Brock transcript and we will conduct a free pre-assessment to let you know, not only if you are eligible for one of our programs, but if we think your application will be competitive enough for admission.

Brock students will need to provide their student ID number with their request. Students who have received undergraduate transfer credit, have taken LOP courses or who participated in an international exchange as part of their undergraduate program, must also provide the transcripts from these institutions with their pre-assessment request

Submit your pre-assessment request by visiting portal.bus.brocku.ca
