Other Information

GEOG/TOUR 3F93 is a full-credit course. Students will spend ten days in the field. We anticipate that the course will (provisionally) run from May 23 - June 3, 2022. These details will be finalized once UBC finalizes their summer schedules.

GEOG/TOUR 3F93 COSTS

All costs outlined below are approximate and may not represent all costs that might be incurred during the course.

1. Flights

- Approximately $700.00
- Students must find their own way to and from Vancouver. Students accept responsibility to be in Vancouver to begin the course at the appointed time.

2. Tuition

- Please follow Spring session tuition deadline payments set by the Finance Office. Online registration for this course opens in March 2022. Spring students are eligible for OSAP. Please contact Brock Central if you have any questions about tuition, OSAP, or financial aid.

3. Financial Aid/Scholarship

- All Brock students accepted for this field course will receive a travel award of $1,250 CAD from the Faculty of Social Sciences to go towards trip expenses. This will be applied directly to your student account.

4. Accommodation

- We will be staying in residence at the University of British Columbia. At this point it appears as though the charge will be roughly $45.00/night + taxes and applicable fees.

5. Meals

- Students will be responsible for obtaining their own meals. It is difficult to recommend a meal allowance, but there are plenty of options. Students will have opportunity to buy and prepare many of their own meals or to dine in restaurants.

6. Local Transportation

- We will be using public transit - students will be responsible for purchasing the necessary transit passes. Transit fees are approximately $6.00 (refundable) card deposit + $10.75 per day pass.

7. Admission fees

- This trip may include admission fees to various institutions. For example:
 - i. Museum of Anthropology -- $13.00 / student
 - ii. Gulf of Georgia Cannery -- $11.90 / student
