

ADJUNCT PROFESSOR

It is recognized that researchers external to Brock University may be able to assist in the educational and research functions of the university. Researchers may have areas of expertise, which strengthen or compliment existing areas of teaching and research. In addition, the external researchers may have access to facilities and services, which could be utilized by faculty and students at Brock. In order to formalize the relationship between Brock and the external researchers, a department may wish to recommend an adjunct appointment.

An adjunct appointment is to be made on the recommendation of the department and must be approved by the Dean and confirmed by the President. It is expected that a person recommended for such an appointment will have educational and professional standing comparable to that which we would expect of faculty and that the appointment will benefit faculty or students at the university. An adjunct appointment is an honorary one and carries no remuneration. Adjunct faculty are not employees of the university, and as such they should not assume sole responsibility for any supervision of students. Access to specialized facilities should be specifically approved. Letters of appointment will include the following:

- effective dates of the appointment - normally up to three (3) years
- rank
- procedures for renewal of the appointment
- specific duties and responsibilities
- any special conditions

Adjunct faculty may hold part-time teaching contracts in addition to their adjunct appointment. Contracts will be issued in accordance with the provisions of the collective agreement between Brock University and CUPE4207.
